Unveiling the Framework: GAAP vs. GASB

The foundation of accounting for nonprofit entities lies in understanding the two authoritative bodies that govern their financial reporting: the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) and the Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB). Each organization has developed a distinct set of standards and principles tailored to the specific needs of nonprofit organizations.

FASB's Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) provide the framework for accounting and financial reporting for most nonprofit organizations, while GASB's Generally Accepted Accounting Standards (GASB) are specifically designed for state and local government entities. By comprehending the nuances between GAAP and GASB, you'll gain a solid foundation for accurately recording and reporting the financial transactions of nonprofit entities.
