Set against the backdrop of Cuba's tumultuous history, Promises From Cuba tells the story of three generations of women from the same family. Isabel, the matriarch, fled Cuba in the 1950s with her husband and young daughter, Elena. Elena, now in her 60s, has spent her life haunted by the memories of her childhood in Cuba and the loss of her father. And Sofia, Elena's granddaughter, is a young woman struggling to find her place in the world and to understand the legacy of her family's past.

When Isabel's dying wish brings the three women together for the first time, they are forced to confront the secrets and betrayals that have shaped their lives. As they delve into their family history, they discover a hidden promise that has been passed down through generations. A promise that could change everything.

Promises From Cuba is a beautifully written and emotionally resonant novel that explores the complex and enduring themes of love, loss, and resilience. Papadopoulos's characters are unforgettable, and her depiction of Cuba's history is both vivid and heartbreaking.

If you are looking for a novel that will stay with you long after you finish reading it, then Promises From Cuba is the book for you.
